RE: Docket # WT 04-435

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to inform you that I am strongly opposed to allowing the use of mobile phones on commercial flights. At least in a restaurant or in some other venue I can walk away from the annoying sound. But being held captive on an airplane and listening to dozens of people—usually loudly—conduct business and tell stories about their Aunt Mary's surgery is just too much! If you're going to allow this then I suggest you also think of ways that will guarantee that those of us who can't stand the noise will still be able to enjoy quiet at 30,000 feet.

Please do not allow the ban to be lifted.

Thank you.

Sincerely,
